FAST WORK AT O. M. U.
Coach Eckstorm and Captain Sickles gave the Medics a fast workout Thursday afternoon and the doctors are rounding to in great shape for Saturday's opening game with Denison at Neil Park.

After a little preliminary punting and catching the candidates were called upon to try tackling, which work aroused considerable criticism from the coach, who realizes its great importance in a regular game.

With McCallum as center and Farnson at quarter, Francis was given a chance at place kicking and received applause from the side lines as he lifted over the oval for long and pretty goals. A regular scrimmage line was then called for and a fierce struggle ensued between the teams.

In the early stages there were several fumbles and both sides lost the ball, but this fault was soon remedied and the variety tore through their opponents' line for big gains. Francis at one time making a 35-yard run for a touch-down.

Considerable strength has been given the team by the appearance of Cherington, the great half-back, who is showing up in his old time form in the back field. Thompson is showing up well at guard.

The new men, out yesterday were Partz, weighing 168 pounds, and Adams 165. College spirit is running high over the opening game and a big crowd is expected to witness Saturday's struggle, which will be on at 3 o'clock.

DENISON HARD AT IT.

Coach Stanton is doing great work with his Denison team, and expects to place a team against the Ohio Medics that will keep their opponents on the move at all times. What the Granville boys lack in weight they make up in speed, and if their defensive work is strong enough to withstand the onslaught of O. M. U.'s heavy ground gainers, a close game may be expected. This is the first game to be played by either team and their followers are watching the preparation and anticipating the result with much interest. Quite a number of Denison students and some enthusiasts from Newark expect to go to Columbus to see the game.

NEWARK PLAYS SATURDAY.

Manager Homer Allen's Newark eleven will open the season Saturday on the Heisey ball grounds in East Newark, their opponents being the team representing the East Newark Athletic club, and a good game may be confidently expected. Both teams are working hard and will be in the best possible shape for the contest. The Newark eleven will put on the finishing touches to their preparation in the old graveyard, corner Sixth and West Main street this evening, under the direction of Coach Clarence Dille, O. S. U. '01, who is desirous that the full squad show up for practice. At this time there will be signal practice and scrimmage drill, and those who will start in the game will be chosen. Every player should be present as Coach Dille is desirous of giving every man a thorough try out. The line-up in the game Saturday will be changed frequently, so that a great many more than the eleven who start the game will be given a chance to play. The game will begin at 3 o'clock.

FOOT BALL AT NIGHT.

Some of those interested in the game of football in Newark, are going to look into the practicability of arranging for the playing of the game by the Newark team by electric light. The Heisey field can be easily lighted, and the proposition meets with much favor, and will probably be carried out.

NEWARK TEAM'S SCHEDULE.

Manager Homer Allen of the Newark football team has not yet completed the schedule of games to be played by his eleven, but will soon have it ready for publication. He is trying to arrange a game with Denison for mid-week in the near future. The Granville College team have games scheduled for every Saturday until the middle of November.

Newark will play the strong Shelby Athletic club team at Shelby, October 4th, and games will be arranged with other good teams.

JACKSON QUILTS O. S. U.

Paul Jackson, who finished the season at quarterback last year, has quit the squad and announces that he will play no more this year. The reason alleged for this action is parental interference. The team is left with but one candidate for quarterback, young Wilkes from the Delaware High school. This youngster has been putting up a very fast game and will fill the bill from present indications. What will be done for the position in case Wilkes is injured has not been determined.

MRS. JAMES GRAY IS GRANTED A DIVORCE

Natural Gas Case in Common Pleas Court—Will Probated—Property Transfers—Licenses.

In the case of Mrs. Alice Gray vs. James Gray, a decree of divorce was granted plaintiff. She was restored to her maiden name. Smythe & Smythe.

Common Pleas Court.

H. H. Baird vs. C. C. Caner et al; judgment of dismissal without record, Eugene Moore; Fulton & Fulton.

The arguments of counsel were heard by the court today in the case of A. G. Alderson vs. Leroy D. Cooper et al, the testimony in which case was introduced the fore part of the week. The action is one asking that a conveyance of real estate be set aside. After hearing the arguments of counsel, the court took the case under advisement. Flory & Flory; Fulton & Fulton.

In the case of the Crawford Natural Gas Co. vs. Denison university and the Granville Natural Gas and Fuel Co., an answer was filed by the defendants Friday. This case was heard to the Court some days ago on a motion to dissolve the temporary restraining order heretofore issued. The petition of the plaintiff asked to restrain the defendants from turning defendant company's gas into the pipes of the plaintiff, using the pipes and excluding plaintiff from the use of their pipes. The university claimed to own the pipes. The Court found, on the hearing of the motion to discharge, that the pipes were the property of the Crawford Natural Gas Co., and overruled the motion. The answer of the defendants, now filed, says that in the year 1898, it was the desire of the university that the plaintiff should furnish gas for the buildings; that plaintiff had also a still stronger desire to furnish gas; that, in order to induce the university to purchase plaintiff's gas, plaintiff offered to furnish and lay the necessary pipes and make connections from curb line on and along the college ground and to its buildings, at a definite price, and as plaintiff probably truthfully claimed at a greatly reduced price; that the university accepted the offer and entered into a contract for gas, and paid plaintiff the price agreed on for the pipes and laying the same, which was fifty dollars, all of which was accepted in satisfaction by the plaintiff; that the university became the owner and still is the owner of the pipes; that there was no agreement that said pipes should become a part of plaintiff's system of furnishing gas to other citizens of the village; that the university did not give any license to plaintiff to lay pipes on its ground for the benefit or use of any one except itself; that the pipes are not a necessary part of its so-called system, and that the cutting of the pipes will not do plaintiff a great and irreparable injury, or any injury. Defendants further say that in 1890 plaintiff was unable to furnish gas according to the contract, and ran a high pressure line about 500 feet over part of the grounds of the university; that plaintiff entered upon the university grounds of its own accord and without asking permission and laid pipes and put in a regulator; that this was done in order to supply the gas which was agreed to be furnished, and to prevent a cancellation of its contract with the university; that the university has terminated its contract with plaintiff and had done so before this suit was begun; that plaintiff had no right, license or easement on or over the grounds of the university, and no right to the injunction granted, and defendants ask that the preliminary order of injunction be dissolved.

J. D. Jones for plaintiff; J. R. Davies and S. M. Winn for defendants.

THE GAS FIELD

LOW GAS RATES CONTINUE IN FORCE AT UTICA.

Moreland Well Expected in Monday.
Henry Bash Well Not a Gusher.
Prices of Gas.

Utica, O., Sept. 26.—This week's Herald has the following gas news. No new developments in the gas rivalry in the village are to be recorded. The price for stoves is the same with both companies, $1.00 per month, and no cut below that, by either company, is probable. Lights are 10 cents per month, both companies the same. The Logan furnace rate of $6 upward was cut to $4, and the Home company rate is $3. A high official of the Logan is said to have directed that no lower rate than $4 be made, and nothing less than that is quoted; however, it is said that the Logan have promised consumers that they will not require them to pay more than the Home company charges. Some people believe that the policy of the Logan now is to not injure future prospects, here and elsewhere by cutting prices further, but to hold on with a belief that in the course of time the Utica company will be reduced to the point of selling out and they (the Logan) will again have the field alone. Then of course the rate charged in Newark and Mt. Vernon, $3 per month in winter and $1.75 in summer, would be put in force. The Logan is now soliciting, and an employee is said to have advised a furnace user to contract with the Home company if a rate under $4 could be secured.

The Knox County Oil & Gas Co. has secured a franchise in Ashland.

Tools are still stuck in the Keckley well, away down, with a lot of cable attached, and after a week fishing the prospects are against ever getting them out. A similar fix is reported from the Edman well.

The Logan well No. 2 on Moreland will be finished about Monday, a breakdown on Tuesday having delayed it a day.

Nearly a hundred fires are now connected with the new Utica mains, and several gangs of men are hustling others on.

The first well to be put down by the Forbing, Krebs & Forbing Gas & Oil company will be drilled on the Culp farm two miles northeast of Martinsburg. The derrick timbers and machinery were hauled to the site last Thursday.

The Coshoccon company secured a franchise for Dresden, Monday night, after a hot contest with the Ohio Fuel Supply company.

The Henry Bash well is a small one.

Learned of His Father's Death at Frazeysburg Too Late to Attend the Funeral.

Brady Tunis of Frazeysburg, a traveling salesman who makes Columbus his headquarters, was surprised on arriving at Columbus Wednesday evening to learn that his father was dead and buried at Frazeysburg. Monday night the police department received a request from Frazeysburg to notify a Brady Studor that his father was dead. A mistake appears to have been made in the name which should have been Brady Tunis. Mr. Tunis was absent from the city and when he returned Wednesday night his attention was attracted by a paragraph in The Citizen, which told of the effort of the police to locate Brady Studor. He investigated and found that it was his father who had died.—Columbus Citizen.

GRANVILLE
CENTENNIAL SUBJECT OF AN INTERESTING TALK

By Dr. F. W. Shepardson in Public Schools From a Historical Standpoint.

During a recent visit to Granville, Dr. Francis W. Shepardson, in response to an invitation to speak before the pupils of the High school, gave an interesting talk on the proposed Granville Centennial. He presented the subject from a historical standpoint, and urged the pupils to "open their eyes" to the subject of historical interest surrounding them on all sides. He showed that in the history of Granville is reflected every phase in the development of the history of the United States. The log cabin of the pioneer has been displaced by the modern frame or brick structure, showing that in the social advancement of Granville is seen the social movements which have taken place in the history of the United States. The old fashioned harvesting implements, the scythe, the cradle and the corn knife, have given way to the modern binder and corn-cutting machines, proving that the industrial progress of our community is a key to the industrial progress of the United States.

Formerly Granville was the center of some lively manufacturing interests but the advent of steam and electric roads so changed the economic conditions that these industries were compelled to shut down, which is evidence that the same economic conditions that have centralized trade in the United States have been active in the history of Granville. The student who wishes to understand the history of his country has only to look into the history of his own community where he will find abundant material for study if he will but open his eyes to see it.

Dr. Shepardson then offered some practical suggestions as to the manner in which the public schools might promote the centennial by arousing interest in local history and in collecting and classifying data pertaining to the early history of the village. In this way interest would radiate from the school to the home and the duty of the citizens toward the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the village would be kept constantly before them. Also the material collected could be made the subject of essays in the regular literary society and thus add an educational value to the processes of historical research.

That the pupils are in sympathy with the cause so ably advocated by Dr. Shepardson was shown by their hearty applause at the close of his address. Steps have been taken toward the organization of a Historical Society among the pupils of the public schools and it is hoped that all who are interested in Granville history will cooperate with this organization in advancing the cause of the centennial by stimulating interest in local history.—Granville Times.

WHAT IT WILL DO

WALTHER'S PEPTONIZED PORT tones and builds up impaired and impoverished nerves, muscles and blood.

The pepsin assists digestion and the port stimulates and invigorates.

For invalids and convalescents WALTHER'S PEPTONIZED PORT is an ideal tonic.

It contains the necessary tonic and food elements in easily digestible shape, so pleasant to take.

Tiredout, run-down, nervous people are not sick, but they are not well, the most nourishing food is insufficient, yet medicine is not exactly necessary.

They need WALTHER'S PEPTONIZED PORT.

It strengthens the weak digestive organs, restores the appetite, builds and tones up the entire system, and promotes a perfect condition of health and vigor.

Instead of irritable, ailing people filling themselves with nostrums and drugs, they should take WALTHER'S PEPTONIZED PORT. It is just the medicine they need, and it is food and drink as well.

Nursing mothers, growing children, grown people and old folks, all find it a health promoting beverage.

Particularly in stomach and bowel troubles is the use of WALTHER'S PEPTONIZED PORT indicated. It prevents gastric indigestion, flatulency, diarrhoea, distress after eating, and a hundred and one other symptoms of indigestion and dyspepsia and biliousness.

It's a Vitalizer, a Most Valuable Refrigerant Tonic, simply a combination of port wine and pepsin. It is an ideal combination of pure rich, healthful port and the best quality of pepsin.

They are combined after our own private secret formula, which is the best possible way of uniting these two substances.

No drugs or chemicals of any nature whatever has been used a cure-all, a medicine or remedy for acute or chronic sicknesses.

Instead it is a tonic food of positive value for use in all cases where pronounced symptoms of disease do not exist.

It has no bitter taste or odor, but is thoroughly and pleasantly palatable.

PHYSICIANS PRESCRIBE

WALTHER'S PEPTONIZED PORT when their patients need a dependable, reliable tonic. They know it will do all that a medicine should do, and it will be much more pleasing and agreeable.

Practitioners not only recommend it to their patients, but they take it themselves.

Weak stomachs are assisted in their work and other enfeebled organs are stimulated and restored. The abnormal and morbid conditions disappear and the previous dyspeptic sufferer not only enjoys his meals, but the day's duties and pleasures.

WALTHER'S PEPTONIZED PORT is not only good for sick people but well people as well.

Rev. Elzy Bounds.
Died at his home in Hebron, Ohio, Thursday, September 11, 1902. Rev. Elzy Bounds, one of the old citizens of the place. He was born in Virginia, August 12, 1825, and came to Ohio with his parents in his early childhood and has ever since made his home in Licking County. He was married to Miss Isabelle Smith in July of 1846. To them were born four children, three sons and one daughter, of whom one son and the daughter survive him. Over a half century ago Mr. Bounds was converted to Christ and was baptized into the Licking Baptist church by Elder Hestand, where he has held his membership until his death. Soon after his conversion he realized that his Master had called him to enter the Christian ministry, and in obedience to the call he was ordained to this holy office. The most of his ministerial labor was among the early and struggling churches of Central Ohio. Among these churches there are still to be found many who have in their hearts a warm place for Pastor Bounds.

His faith in God was unwavering. His lips ever ready to speak words of cheer, while his heart was full of kind sympathy for all who were oppressed. He surely "rejoiced with those who rejoiced and wept with those who wept." A kind and devoted husband and father, loved and respected by all who knew him.

After five months of patient suffering and at the age of 77 years and 29 days, the faithful old minister of the Gospel and soldier of the Cross, was called to the Church Triumphant. Funeral services from the house Saturday morning, Sept. 12, conducted by Rev. B. G. Bowman of Fredericktown, O., a former pastor of the Licking Baptist church and a friend of the family, who also attended the funeral of Mrs. Bounds some three years ago. Years before Rev. Bowman was born Rev. Bounds had visited in his grandfather's family at the old Bristol Baptist church in Perry county, Ohio. There were present to assist in the service, Rev. McCall, pastor of the Licking church, and Rev. Rodgers, pastor of the Methodist church of Hebron. Interment in

HUMOR TO CHILDREN.

Miss Katharin Chander has an article on "The Sense of Humor in Children" in the October Century, based on compositions by pupils on the theme of "the best joke you heard during vacation." Her conclusions are summed up as follows:

An inspection of these compositions would lead one to believe that in children younger than ten years the sense of humor is not differentiated by sex, and that it is akin to that of the savage who smiles grimly at his victim's throes. From that year on the influence of our present educational system is felt. The girls are not only trained to be like adults, but there developed in them a sensitiveness that makes them feel with the person laughed at, and so they lose their initiative fun loving proclivities and their appreciation of their brothers' pranks. It is an old saying "a woman has no sense of humor," but if her education were the same as her brother's she would at least retain the native stock of her childhood. The girls who receive the most liberal physical training—and in this day of sports they are becoming many—are as able to appreciate humor as are their men companions.

The boys are less hampered by traditions of dignity, and they advance in humor as in other lines. As they become more civilized, they value more subtle jokes than the physical dodges of their childhood. They would rise to a still higher plane were their reading matter in this subject as well pruned as in other branches. It might be wise for the suffering teacher or parent to encourage the jocose urchins for upon them mainly depends that source of humor which we need to irradiate our too solemn old earth.

THE AUTOMOBILE.

It Has Come to Stay and Is Bound to Be Lower in Price.

At present automobiles are too complicated and prices are too high for general adoption. The ratio of machines to population in the United States, 12,000 to 78,000,000 say—that is, one to every 6,500 persons—does not at first glance appear promising, but when we consider that only three years ago the ratio was one to 1,500,000 persons a very different aspect is presented, and it may be safely concluded that with such possibilities of demand the automobile must of necessity grow to meet the measure of its greatness. American makers are quicker to see this opportunity than are their foreign rivals, as is proved by prices. Foreign machines are sold in this country at from $2,500 to $20,000, the record price, paid by a wealthy New Yorker, for a French machine, while the highest priced American machine is $5,000, and hundreds are in use which cost their owners from $650 to $800.

A good horse and wagon may be had for $200, and the automobile must approximate this figure to become popular and give the horse some hope that at last he can quit work and live like a gentleman. That this may be done and still be profitable to makers is shown in the history of bicycle prices and in the further fact that one of the first American makers, with the popular idea in view, made machines to sell at from $400 to $600 and advanced his prices later because he could get whatever he asked.—William J. Lampton in Outing.

Servin's Peasant Kings.

King Alexander of Servia is without an heir. A sensational story from Belgrade via Vienna says that he has determined to adopt and educate a healthy peasant boy as his successor on the throne.

Servian history of the nineteenth century lends curious interest to this story, however the facts may develop later. It was a former swineherd, one Milosh Obrenovitch, to whom the monarchic title of the nation fell in 1830 by vote of the assembly, the Turks having killed or driven out of the country all the aristocracy. Previously for about thirteen years Milosh had led the Servians in their struggle for independence. The seal of the porte was laid upon his triumph and the succession was reserved to his family. From him has descended the Obrenovitch dynasty of Milans, Michaels and Alexanders.

Milosh was a man of simple, coarse habits. He became a despot, was forced to abdicate in 1839 and returned to power at seventy for a year only in 1859. It would be a remarkable repetition of history if the twentieth century were to see Servia again under the rule of an original peasant.—New York World.

Pampas Plumes.

The growing of pampas plumes has become an important industry in California. When they are cut, a day or so suffices to dry the plumes, and at such times the ground appears from the hills to be covered with snow. After the drying the plumes are taken to the curling house and then finally sorted into various grades by expert hands. The finest and most beautiful plumes are about thirty-six inches long and they are packed for shipment either in packages of 2,000 or in large cases, the prices ranging from $200 to $50 a thousand, according to the demand. There are numerous pampas orchards in California ranging in their productive quality from 5,000 bills, which produce 250,000 plumes, down to small ranches, where but few are raised. In all California produces about 2,500,000 plumes a year, which are sent all over this country and Europe.—Chicago News.

Maple Fudge.

Maple fudge is liked better by many persons than chocolate. Put into a saucepan one-half cupful of granulated sugar, one and one-half cupfuls of scraped maple sugar and a cupful of milk. When the sugar's melted and the mixture hot add two tablespoonfuls of butter and boil for twenty minutes. When it hardens in cold water, it is done. Upon removing it from the fire add a teaspoonful of vanilla. Begin to beat as soon as it comes from the fire. When it shows signs of granulation, turn into buttered, shallow tins, and when cool enough mark into squares. Two tablespoonfuls of grated cocoanut and a cupful of walnut or hickory nut may be added, if they are wanted, with the vanilla.

He Made the First Revolver.

Joseph Shirk, formerly of Lancaster, Pa., the man who made the first revolver, died the other day. The present generation hardly imagines a time when there was no revolver, but in truth it is a modern weapon and in its real efficiency only a few years old, not to exceed forty. Before the civil war there were the old fashioned pepper boxes, which were dangerous to the user. Then came the "navy," which had to be loaded like a musket, each barrel requiring separate attention, and usually being ineffective except at point blank range.

A Monster Crab.

"The largest crab in the world," says a Chinese paper, "has been sent from Japan to the American Museum of Natural History. Its body is about the size of a large dinner plate, and its two great arms would go around a man. The longest measurement of the whole is twelve feet. The jointed limbs resemble bamboo and carry spines and hooks as well as claws. The crab is said to disguise itself to imitate the sea bottom by sticking pieces of sponge and seaweed on its body with a glutinous saliva."

RIFLE RANGE

TO BE PUT IN READINESS FOR GUARDSMEN.

The Second Battalion, Third Regiment U. S. I., is Now Here for Target Practice.

Some important improvements are about to be made on the rifle range at the State Camp Grounds, preparatory to the shoot of the state team, which will probably be some time next month. The height of the butte into which the shooting is done, will be increased considerably so as to give better accommodations for the target practice by preventing the bullets from flying over the range.

Colonel H. M. Taylor, who ranks as Assistant Adjutant General, and Captain L. H. Inscho, custodian of the camp grounds, inspected the grounds on Thursday evening. The Colonel expressed himself as well pleased with the improvements and general appearance of the grounds, under Captain Inscho's careful attention.

The Second Battalion of the Third regiment United States Infantry, Captain McCrea commanding, is now in camp for target practice. This regiment saw active service in the Philippines, being among the first troops to arrive on the island after Dewey's great victory there. It is said that Captain McCrea captured more arms and munitions than any other officer there.

The Second Battalion has with it a young Filipino, 22 years old, who was brought here by the regiment from the islands. He is a very bright and interesting young man, and expressed a desire in conversation with Captain Inscho on Thursday afternoon to visit the public schools, as he is much interested in the subject of education.

The young man goes by the name of Alejandro, and is a member of Aguinaldo's tribe, the Tagalos.

FREE TO MILLIONS.

A Valuable Little Book Sent Free for the Asking.

Medical books are not always interesting reading, especially to people enjoying good health, but as a matter of fact scarcely one person in ten is perfectly healthy, and even with such, sooner or later sickness must come.

It is also a well established truth that nine-tenths of all diseases originate with a breaking down of the digestion, a weak stomach weakens and impoverishes the system, making it easy for disease to gain a foothold.

Nobody need fear consumption, kidney disease, liver trouble or a weak heart and nervous system as long as the digestion is good and the stomach able to assimilate plenty of wholesome food.

Stomach weakness shows itself in a score of ways and this little book describes the symptoms and causes and points the way to a cure so simple that anyone can understand and apply.

Thousands have some form of stomach trouble and do not know it. They ascribe the headaches, the languor, nervousness, insomnia, palpitation, constipation and similar symptoms to some other cause than the true one. Get your digestion on the right track and the heart trouble, lung trouble, liver disease or nervous debility will rapidly disappear.

This little book treats entirely on the cause and removal of indigestion and its accompanying annoyances.

It describes the symptoms of Acid Dyspepsia, Nervous Dyspepsia, Slow Dyspepsia, Amalgamous Dyspepsia, Catarrh of stomach and all affections of the digestive organs in plain language easily understood and the cause removed.

It gives valuable suggestions as to diet, and contains a table giving length of time required to digest various articles of food, something every person with weak digestion should know.

No price is asked, but simply send your name and address plainly written on postal card to the F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., requesting a free copy of the book on Stomach Diseases and it will be sent promptly by return mail. 17-19-21-23

FOR AUTOMOBILE WEAR.

Costumes Are Now Made of Horse and Goat Skins.

Fashions in motor garments are undergoing somewhat of a change. Time was when shapeless garments of oil skin or the hard, stiff Greenland seal were considered the only proper thing, but experience has shown us that, except when on a racing car, practically the same costumes can be worn as when one is riding in a carriage.

The successful motor costume should be dustproof and warm. Those designed for hard wear are made entirely of horsehair, but a less expensive substitute is kidskin, the hides of young goats being utilized for the purpose. As with horsehair, the short glossy hairs resist both rain and dust, while the skin if properly dressed is as soft and supple as cloth.

An extra long coat is somewhat of a necessity, especially now that autumn is here.

Such a coat, suitable also for golf and country wear, is here shown. It is of striped Scotch goods and is trimmed with strappings of deep blue cloth. The hat is of gray felt, with a gray and white feather. JUDIC CHOLLET.

SEPARATE WAISTS.

They Will Not Be So Much Worn This Winter.

For morning wear the separate blouse and skirt still prevail. The smart woman, however, arranges that her skirt shall harmonize with her waist in coloring.

Grass green panne velvet waists are among the latest novelties. A waist of a good quality of black china silk is very smart as well as useful. Combine

AFTERNOON TOILET.

It with coarse black lace applied in quaint patterns. The dannel waist will not be worn as much this winter as formerly. It will be supplanted by serviceable unlined blouses of peau de soie, wool and silk moire and heavy unlined satin. These will be made quite simply, and the greater part of them follow the style of the summer and fasten down the back with tiny silk buttons.

Red is a very popular shade. A very bright garnet red is considered the smartest, but this should be worn with discretion.

A dainty afternoon toilet is of rose broadcloth trimmed with ivory guipure lace and touches of deep red tulle. As seen in the illustration, it is rather plain, with a wide collar, full sleeves and an overdress effect in the trimming of the skirt.

HOMESICK CADETS.

The New Man at West Point and the Paags of Nostalgia.

The new man at West Point has one misfortune to endure throughout the first few weeks of his course—he must suffer the pangs of homesickness. He has entered upon a course of discipline quite unlike anything in his experience. Every act of his daily life is regulated by an inflexible system. He has no friend at hand; the word sympathy seems to be unknown. Older cadets look on, understand, pity, but give no sign. H. Irving Hancock says in "Life at West Point":

It is a common sight for a cadet corporal, going into the room of a "plebe," to find him seated at his table, pen in hand and a sheet of paper before him, staring blankly at the paper or the wall. The cadet corporal takes in the scene before him.

"Homesick, mister?" he asks.

"Yes, sir," replies the plebe, looking shamefaced.

"Saw sign a new man's homesick when he's caught at study table writing his resignation," rejoins the corporal composedly.

The plebe, wondering how it is that the cadet corporal is such a mind reader, flushes, looks at the sheet before him and slowly tears it up.

"That's right," says the corporal. Then, with a momentary touch of sympathy, he goes on: "Don't get down in the mouth, mister. I've been through the nostalgia drill myself. It's tough on you, but when you've been here a little while there's no inducement on earth that could make you leave of your own choice. Brace up! Homesickness hits 'em all at first."

Then the corporal glances about and falls at once into the brusque tone of the instructor.

"See here, mister," he remarks, "policing is one of the most important duties of the soldier. Your shoe brush is out of place. Haven't I told you where it belongs? And you cap is on your bed. Now, mister!"

So he goes on with a list of criticisms which at once reduce life to a practical level. The plebe has enough to do for the next half hour in "tidying up," and at the end of that time he is not tempted to resume his letter. At least, he puts it off for one day more.

The Viewpoint.

"That man is extremely suspicious, as he thinks every one he sees is a shady character, and naturally too."

"It's his nature, I suppose."

"Not at all. He wears smoked spectacles."—Baltimore Herald.

COOKING HINTS.

In hot weather use no vegetables in soup stock. It will keep better. Add the vegetables in making the soup.

When stewing fruit, add a pinch of salt to every pound, and you will find the flavor much improved.

Add a little milk to the water in which old potatoes are boiled, and it will prevent their turning black in cooking.

Give a new laid egg about half a minute longer to boil than you would allow for one which has been kept for some time.

String beans covered with French dressing, sprinkled with chives and seasoned with salt and pepper make an excellent salad.

For chicken pie, prepare fowl as if for fricassee; cover in stewpan with quart boiling water; simmer over fire; add capital rice, with tablespoon salt; simmer until chicken is tender; pour over a tomato sauce and serve.

THE EYES.

The finest eyes are those that unite sense and sweetness.

If the left eye is the larger, the individual is ruled by the heart. A larger right eye signifies hard headedness.

Eyes that are restless have no power. It takes the concentrated gaze to influence and probe the secrets of another's soul.

A very round eye is never found in the face of a clever, quick witted individual. "The more the eye resembles the round, beaklike one of a bird, the more does it betray dullness," says an old writer.

If when you examine your eyes you find that the left eyelid droops farther over the eye than does the right, you may take it for granted that you possess delicacy of constitution united with brilliancy of intellect and that you are a genius in one way or another.

Truth is mighty and has prevailed. See its triumph in Walther's Peptonized Port all over the world.

SPANISH WAR

DELEGATES ARE HOME FROM THE NATIONAL MEETING.

The Liller Trouble Has a Local Interest—Newark Men Prominent At the Convention.

Commander Chas. S. Adams, and Adjutant M. D. Farmer, of Licking Camp 92, Spanish-American War Veterans of this city, returned Thursday night from Indianapolis, where they attended the National Encampment of the order, which was in session Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday as delegates from the Ohio department.

Mr. Farmer was made a member of the National Board of Administration, which is a position of prominence and honor in the order. The board consists of one member from each state represented, and on it will serve with Mr. Farmer, William J. Bryan of Nebraska, Lieut. R. P. Hobson of Alabama, Gen. Fitzhugh Lee of Virginia, and others prominent in the Councils of the order.

Mr. Adams also took an active part in the proceedings of the convention.

The most spectacular and sensational episode of the Encampment were the charges against W. C. Liller of Lancaster, Pa., formerly Adjutant General of the National organization.

It will be remembered that Liller created a sensation by calling Col. Russel B. Harrison, son of ex-President Benjamin Harrison, a liar, at one of the sessions, when the Colonel suggested that Liller had altered the minutes of the Buffalo Encampment held last year. This affair has a local interest as it was originally Mr. Chas. S. Adams who preferred charges against Liller. A short history of this case will be interesting. Liller had set out to hamper General Dick, whose energies were bent toward a consolidation of the Spanish-American War Veterans, and the Spanish War Veterans, the former order numbering about 20,000 and the latter 10,000. Liller was opposed to this plan, as it is said, that it would mean his virtual retirement from the councils of the order. To this end he opposed the meeting of the Ohio Department in Columbus, August 26, which had been called by General Dick, and issued a call to meet in Newark, sending letters to members of the local camp, containing the most insulting language concerning Dick, who was department commander of Ohio.

C. S. Adams, commander of Licking Camp at the department meeting in Columbus, preferred charges of conduct unbecoming a gentleman and officer, and he was to be tried on these charges at Indianapolis.

It was afterward discovered that his accounts were not straight and this matter is now being investigated, the result of which, according to the opinion of almost every member of the order, will be a court martial.

On Mr. Adams' charges Liller virtually pleaded guilty, and voluntarily apologized to the National camp at Indianapolis.

The consolidation of the two orders will be accomplished by the first of the year. Both organizations, in National convention, favored the idea, and a committee of seven from each order will meet in New York the first Monday after the November election, to draft plans for the consolidation. It is generally believed that Gen. C. W. F. Dick of Ohio, will be selected as commander-in-chief of the new organization.

The next annual convention will be held in Milwaukee in 1903, and after some further routine business, on motion of M. D. Farmer of Newark, the convention adjourned sine die.

Rev. J. C. Schindel was nominated by Mr. Farmer as Chaplain in chief of the order and received the election over a very popular Chaplain from Iowa.

The part taken by Newark's representatives to the National convention of this vigorous young order, is altogether pleasing to their friends and honorable to themselves.

The following National officers were elected: Commander-in-Chief, Colonel D. John Foster, Chicago; Senior Vice Commander, Colonel Thos. F. Lynch, New York; Junior Vice Commander, Major Harry Hall, Philadelphia; Inspector General, Captain Ellis Duncan, Louisville, Ky.; Judge Advocate General, Captain Newton W. Gilbert, Ft. Wayne, Ind.; Surgeon General, Major Wm. P. Love, Youngstown, Ohio; Commissary General, L. F. Hubbard, St. Paul, Minn.; Chief Engineer, Captain Frank S. Clark, Indianapolis; Chief Mustering Officer, Captain Charles J. Schultz, New Jersey; Chief Signal Officer, Lieutenant John McLenahan, Michigan; Chief of Artillery, Lieutenant Wilbur M. Lee, Wisconsin; Chaplain in Chief, J. C. Schindel, of this city.

A STUART IN A GARRET

Curious Story of Finding of Long Forgotten Picture.

EARLY PORTRAIT OF WASHINGTON

Form, Disfigured and Dust Covered, It Lay For Many Years in a Garret and Was Finally Discovered and Identified as One of Gilbert Stuart's Original Paintings.

A Baltimore dispatch to the Washington Post says that the recent publication in that paper of the purchase by Mr. Henry Walters, the well known patron of arts, of one of Gilbert Stuart's original portraits of George Washington brings to light a most curious story of how another Stuart portrait of Washington was secured by another Baltimorean.

Dr. William H. Crim, 413 West Fayette, a surgeon and major in the Fifth regiment, Maryland national guard, for many years devoted time and money to securing antique objects and decorating his home with them. Whenever the opportunity has presented itself the doctor has purchased anything that seems to have any value whatever, and in his collection are many pictures which he has gathered at a nominal cost without knowing the identity of the artist and which have subsequently proved to be very valuable. His luckiest find, probably, was that of the original Stuart.

More than twelve years ago old Barnum's hotel stood on the present site of the Equitable building and was one of the most famous hostleries of the south. The value of the surrounding property increased so rapidly that the hotel was purchased and dismantled in order to make room for the erection of a modern office building. During the process of dismantling Dr. Crim was among the hundreds of daily visitors in quest of curios and antique furniture. In the garret he found a large gilt frame, discolored by age and disfigured by rough usage. In the frame there hung in tatters what appeared to be the remnants of an oil painting. Thinking that the gilt frame would be of some value, he purchased the frame and its tattered canvas for $2. It was his idea to have the frame polished and restored to its high luster so as to add splendor to some of his paintings, which were at that time resting in simpler frames.

The bedraggled frame and its shreds of canvas were sent to Mr. Volkmer, an artist friend, on Frederick street, with a request that he examine the picture and see whether it possessed any value. A few days later Mr. Volkmer, who was an aged and portly German, rushed into Dr. Crim's house almost breathless.

"You have a real Stuart!" he exclaimed.

Mr. Volkmer then explained that by the aid of a process he had so patched up the remnants of the canvas that he had succeeded in securing a fair outline of the figure of Washington. The picture had been retouched, thus concealing many of the original lines. By patience Mr. Volkmer erased what he called "daubs" and at length brought forth the magnificent portrait of Washington in continental uniform.

The picture now hangs in the hallway of Dr. Crim's home. For the work which originally cost him $2 he has subsequently been offered $1,000, which he refused. He considers the portrait worth much more than this sum.

Mr. Volkmer then set himself to work to ascertain how the full sized portrait found its way to Barnum's hotel. He learned that Zenas Barnum, the founder of Barnum's hotel, had conducted a public inn or coffee house in Boston, the home of Gilbert Stuart, before he came to Baltimore. He also ascertained that Stuart was imprudent and that he was given to life in public inns. The inference naturally was that Mr. Barnum had accepted the picture in payment of a debt and that when he came to Baltimore he brought the picture with him. Barnum's first place of business was at the corner of Baltimore and Hanover streets and was known as the Indian Queen hotel. Mr. Volkmer ascertained that the portrait had hung in this place and was the hostelry's chief ornament. He also traced it to Barnum's hotel, where for many years it occupied a conspicuous place on the wall of the sitting room.

One day it tumbled down, falling up on a chair, which tore the canvas into shreds. The wreck was removed to the garret, where it remained, with its identity forgotten, until it was brought to light when the old hotel was torn down.

Dr. Crim also discovered that the picture was a lost treasure. It was known that Washington had given Stuart three sittings. Two of these portraits were traced. One is in the Connecticut statehouse at Hartford. Another is in the private collection of an English nobleman. The third was lost from view. This is the one now in the possession of Dr. Crim.

Wireless Telegraph on Land.

Letters and words have been successfully transmitted by wireless telegraph between the Naval academy and Washington, says an Annapolis dispatch. This is the first time that this has been accomplished since the apparatus was installed here several months ago.

The system which was successfully used was the Shady-Arco, that of a German firm, which was installed by representatives sent to this country for the purpose. The distinctive feature of the system is the large number of wires strung to the pole, offering, it is claimed, a greater likelihood of intercepting the electrical waves.

TO DISCIPLINE PRINCE YEE.

Wesleyan Authorities Not to Allow Him to Attend Theaters.

Vigorous protests are expected from Prince Yee when the authorities of Wesleyan university, all good Methodists, notify this freshman prince that he must not attend the theaters any more, says a Delaware (O.) dispatch to the Chicago Record-Herald.

Before beginning his college career recently he was a regular theater fiend and bought the best seats in the house. The faculty shook their heads sadly, for the prince is such a good fellow and bright student that they neither want to hurt his feelings nor bring about his withdrawal from the university. But theater going is against the rules of the school, and Prince Yee has got to stop it.

Prince Yee is the son of the emperor of Korea and has attracted much attention since coming here. He has leased apartments in the very fashionable heart of the city and is going to prove popular, the students believe. He dresses in the best American fashion and is a pleasant conversationalist. He came to Wesleyan at the solicitation of Dr. Newton Allen, United States minister to Korea, who has become the medical adviser of the royal family. Dr. Allen is a graduate of Wesleyan. Prince Yee went to Washington when first he came to this country and studied with private tutors until he had mastered the language. He is thoroughly posted on current events.

Prince Yee is socially popular, but never goes out unless pressed by a host. He has plenty of money and spends it liberally. He says he is going back to Korea at the completion of his four years' course.

CAN'T KEEP FAMILY SECRETS

How Attorney General Knox Spoils Surprises Planned by Wife.

Attorney General Knox is said to keep a business secret to perfection, but when it comes to family affairs he will divulge secrets and carefully planned surprises with the glee of a bad boy, and this he did in New York just before sailing for Europe, says the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune. When Mrs. Knox was last in Pittsburgh, she had a piano ordered for their youngest child, Philander, and shipped it to Washington. She rented a piano suitable for use in a small boy's room and attached the mechanical device. It was all intended as a surprise for the little son, who, with his sister and brother, was still at Atlantic City.

The attorney general entered into the spirit of the surprise with delight. Just before leaving Washington he telegraphed Miss Knox and her brothers to meet him in New York preparatory to his departure for Europe. Of course little Phil, who is the attorney general's chum, went with them. Doubtless running short of other small conversation and wishing to be agreeable his father divulged the secret of the piano. When Phil arrived in Washington a day later, his mother told him she had a surprise for him. "Is it the piano?" asked the youngster. The case is hopeless. The attorney general cannot keep a family secret, much to the distress of his amiable wife, and the bad habit extends to birthdays and Christmas as well.

QUEEN'S SLEEP PROVOKER.

Prevents Insomnia by Sleeping With Pillow Under Feet.

The queen of Serbia is a late and distinguished convert to the idea that if one would preserve a good figure she must eschew luxurious beds. Her majesty is contented to possess the best figure and most stately carriage of all the royal women in Europe. She has given up the soft bed and down pillows and sleeps on a hard and narrow divan spread with an unyielding mattress, says the Chicago Chronicle. There is no vestige of pillow under her head, but her feet rest on a small one. Previous to taking up with this unusual method of resting the queen had been a sufferer from insomnia and nightmare, but from both these terrors she is now entirely free. The physician who induced her majesty to try this cure is a strong advocate of brief periods of rest for nervous women. Such rest can be taken in a semi-reclining pose in an easy chair by relaxing every muscle. Sleep may or may not follow. It is not an easy matter for a woman who is not accustomed to sleep in the daytime to fall into a doze at will. Sleep should not exceed ten or fifteen minutes, this time being more refreshing than an hour. Place the hands back of the head, slightly swaying the head from side to side; think of nothing. This is absolutely imperative to attain the best results from the afternoon's rest.

LIBRARIES FOR ARMY POSTS

Soldiers Supplied With Books Through Helen Gould's Generosity.

Through the generosity of Helen Gould, United States army posts on the lower Yukon have been supplied with small libraries in charge of the Young Men's Christian associations, says a Tacoma dispatch to the Chicago Record-Herald. W. A. Reid, in charge of the Y. M. C. A. in the north, who has just returned from New York, makes the announcement. Posts at which libraries are to be established are Nome, St. Michael's, Fort Gibbon and Eagle.

During past seasons men have had but little reading matter, even papers being scarce, because mail is delivered by steamer during the summer months only. Letter mail is carried over the ice from October to June, but on account of their bulk newspapers and magazines will not be accepted. Through her liberality Miss Gould has won the gratitude of the soldiers.

Forestry Taught in the Colleges.

Forestry is gradually assuming a prominent position alongside of the older lines of professional work. Until recently but little attention was paid in the schools and colleges of America to this important subject, but with a better appreciation of the possibilities and almost certain destructive results of careless and wanton lumbering there has arisen a demand for proper instruction. The latest canvass shows that at the present time forty-seven institutions of learning offer courses in forestry.

GOOD OLD DAVE'S SONG

Favorite After Dinner Melody of Speaker Henderson.

"IN THE BOTTOM OF THE SEA."

Sung on Many Festive Occasions in Washington For Twenty Years. Likely to Be Heard No More. Glimpse of the Genial Qualities of the Iowa Statesman.

There's a hole in the bottom of the sea,
There's a hole in the bottom of the sea,
There's a hole—
There's a hole—
There's a hole in the bottom of the sea.

For twenty years Speaker Henderson sang that song in Washington at every gathering where song was permitted and at some where it was not, writes the Washington correspondent of the New York World. It is his never failing resource when he feels impelled to burst into melody. The impulse generally comes at dinner, and David Bremner Henderson has three or four invitations for every night of the season.

The air to which the song is sung is that of the chorus of "The Sweet By and By." It is a lovely song—after the waiters have finished serving solids and are getting down to the real work of the evening with the liquors. Everybody knows "The Sweet By and By." Even the dullest intellect can remember the sentiment "There is a Hole in the Bottom of the Sea," and it is a clod indeed who does not thrill with joy to stand up and warble that word "h-o-o-o-l-e." The long "o" is capable of many modulations. To hear David Bremner Henderson sing it is a liberal education in the beauty of the human voice when applied to words and music of lofty sentiment and high character.

Many a man has cried into his glass when the speaker trolled those immortal words, not because of the singing, mind, but because of the overpowering pathos of it all. When the speaker puts on the tremolo stop and sings "There's a hole—there's a h-o-o-o-l-e," there is nothing to do but cry. Weeping is required. No sobs or sighs will do. There must be tears.

Experts say, men like the Clover club chaps of Philadelphia and the Gridiron men of Washington, that David Bremner Henderson is one of the best give and take, rough and tumble dinner entertainers who ever stood up with a glass in his hand and a joke on his tongue. Henderson thinks like lightning. His retorts are sometimes savage, sometimes pleasant, but always witty and always apropos. He wastes no time beating about the bush at a dinner where every man's wit is against every other man's. He is usually in first and hardest. He can keep things going better, make more fun and sing more songs and show up with a clearer eye and a smoother skin the next morning than any man in congress. That is a strong statement, too, for every one of the 357 representatives and the 88 senators has to be a "mixer."

When Henderson first came to congress, he brought his story telling ability, his robust singing voice and his wooden leg. He had his real leg shot off in the civil war. Old soldiers say he has a war record that is glorious. He began to "mix" at once. He was a great friend of the soldier. In the days when they were shaping matters for the present one hundred and forty-five million dollar pension appropriation Henderson was on the spot, pleading with beseeching eloquence for the men who fought the fight. Those were the days for Henderson. Everybody liked him. He was Dave. He sang and joked and told stories and stood in the aisle and preached straight Republican doctrine. He was the idol of the partisan. Nothing the Republican party could do would please him. It was his party, right or wrong. He could then and can now make a speech that will bring a Republican audience to its feet with screaming cheers and throw any Democrat present into a frame of mind where the only proper thing to do seems to be to take a club, go up on the platform and beat his head off.

That was the sort of man Dave Henderson was until Speaker Thomas B. Reed decided he would quit his job. Henderson canvassed the situation.

"Say, boys," he said to the Republican representatives, "will you vote for me for speaker?" "Sure!" shouted nearly every Republican in the house. "Vote for Dave? Glad of the chance! Good old Dave!" They all did vote for him, too, and he went into the speaker's chair with everybody throwing flowers at him and most of the Republicans standing around in groups smiling joyously at him and murmuring in voices choked with emotion: "Good old Dave! Good old Dave!"

DUCHESS AS PEACEMAKER.

Her Grace of Marlborough Tries to Adjust Marital Quarrel.

The Duchess of Marlborough has interested herself in the family troubles of her young cousin, Elliott F. Shepard, says the New York Journal, and is trying to effect a reconciliation between him and his wife, who is suing him for divorce.

She has taken Mr. Shepard abroad with her, although his name did not appear on the passenger list of the steamer on which she sailed, and Mrs. Shepard followed on the Grosser Kurfirst the next day.

It is said that there is to be a family conference in Paris, at which Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard, Sr., will be present, and that a reconciliation will probably follow. In pursuance of this plan of reconciliation young Mrs. Shepard will be received on a friendly footing by Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, something she has been fighting for ever since her marriage, and the young man's allowance will be materially increased by his mother.

Just now the divorce suit is in the air, as the hearing is set for next week, and neither the complainant nor the defendant will be on hand. Young Mrs. Shepard's relatives, the Wigginses of Greenport, N. Y.—she was the daughter of a country storekeeper there—are delighted at the possibility of her being recognized by her husband's family, although even her mother knows little about the affair.

The refusal of the Vanderbilt family to recognize young Mrs. Shepard was a potent factor in her determination to sue for a divorce. Mrs. Shepard, Sr., and her family were much opposed to the marriage, both because of the discrepancy in the ages of young Mr. Shepard and his chosen bride—she being seven years his senior—and because of the disparity in their social positions. Mr. Shepard was only twenty at the time and had been rather wild, one of his escapades, which resulted in his suspension from Yale, being the introduction of three members of a theatrical company into his rooms at that institution early one morning.

Finding that his marriage seemed to have calmed him down a little, Mrs. Shepard, Sr., relented somewhat and increased his allowance.

FAITH IN DEDRICK.

Neighbors of Arctic Explorer Have Confidence in Him.

The citizens of Washington, N. J., united in giving Dr. S. Dedrick, the physician of the Peary expedition, a vote of confidence and a rousing reception, says the New York Journal.

Three thousand people gathered at the Lackawanna station upon his arrival at his former home, and as the doctor stepped from the train he was cheered.

A brass band struck up the familiar strains of "Auld Lang Syne." The members of the common council and the mayor were present, as was also the Washington fire department, of which Dr. Dedrick is a member.

The procession, which moved at once to the home of James L. Boyd, who is Mrs. Dedrick's father, was three blocks long and was greeted on every side by crowds of citizens, who shouted greetings.

At Mr. Boyd's home Dr. Dedrick was met at the door by his aged mother, who threw her arms about his neck, and mother and son wept for joy. It was the first time she had seen her son in more than four years, during one of which she had not known whether he was dead or alive.

The party took supper at the Boyd home and later went to the Washington Opera House, where over 1,500 old friends shook the doctor's hand.

NAVY IN POSTER BUSINESS.

The Flaming Placard Issued to Secure Enlistments.

The navy department is going to go into the circus poster business. Some 150,000 large lithograph placards have been prepared for the purpose of attracting attention to the advantages of enlisting in the navy, says a Washington correspondent. These posters are being sent out by the bureau of navigation for display in all the principal cities and towns of the country. The printed matter is in red, plentifully sprinkled with capital letters.

A fine picture of the Kearsarge adds an artistic touch to the immense placard, which has also a seven foot colored picture of a juckie, calculated to impress the beholder.

The text of the poster shows the advantages of enlisting in the navy and gives much practical information regarding ratings and pay. The poster is likely to attract attention and presumably will result in obtaining many new recruits.

PRESIDENT A GOOD PATIENT

So Declares Sister Mary of the St. Vincent Hospital.

Sister Mary, who was in charge of the room at St. Vincent's hospital, in Indianapolis, where President Roosevelt was operated upon, declares that the president was a good patient and that he bore the excruciating pain of the operation without complaining. He seemed interested in the operation, much as he would have been had it been performed on an acquaintance.

In speaking of the operation and the behavior of the patient Sister Mary said:

"The president was courageous in his bearing and evinced no sign of the piercing pain he must have endured. During the operation he spoke to me several times, and upon one occasion when I dropped a bandage accidentally upon his breast and it rolled to the table beside his left hand, he picked it up and returned it, remarking, 'It's pretty much of a nuisance.'"

Harper's Ferry, the Gate to the Shenandoah Valley.—Where the three States of Virginia, West Virginia, and Maryland come together; where the Potomac and Shenandoah Rivers meet; where the towering steep of the Blue Ridge end abruptly, frowning upon the heights of Maryland and Bolivar Heights in West Virginia. Here the quaint historic town of Harper's Ferry. John Brown baptized it in blood in 1859, when he captured the town and the U. S. Arsenal and made his final and fatal stand in the engine house (known afterwards as John Brown's Fort), alongside the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. A plain shaft simply inscribed, now marks the location.

Again in 1861, grim visaged war seized the village and held it tight in its grasp for nearly four years. The deeds that were done, and the tales that are told concerning Harper's Ferry fill volumes.

The heights at Harper's Ferry guarded the Shenandoah Valley. It was a most important stronghold to be desired when some great campaign was planned by either army.

From Harper's Ferry the Shenandoah Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad extends southward to Charleston, Winchester, Harrisonburg and Lexington. Battlefields surround the village in all directions.

John Milford Watson, eldest son of Thomas and Eliza Watson, was born in Milford township, Knox county, May 10, 1851, died September 19, 1902. About twenty years ago he had a severe attack of sciatic rheumatism, from which he never recovered. It terminated in the hardening of the spinal column from which he has been a constant sufferer but Jobe-like, he never murmured or complained. He was in 1886, elected to the office of township clerk, and with honor has filled the office continuously ever since. His books were all kept with neatness. Three weeks ago he was taken with a severe attack of flu. This attack so reduced him in vitality that he had not strength to resist the ravages of disease and it was soon discovered that pneumonia had set in, from which he died. One brother preceded him about thirteen years ago. His father and mother, three brothers and one sister survive him.

RAILROAD NEWS

Pennsylvania Relief Department. Columbus, O., Sept. 26—At Bucyrus yesterday Judges Day, Norris and Mooney, of the Circuit Court, rendered a decision in which they held that the Pennsylvania Railway company could not legally conduct its employee voluntary relief department. 'Ex-Attorney General Monnett brought the news to the city from Bucyrus. He instituted the action against the Pennsylvania railway at the instance of the National Railway Trainmen's Association.

In their opinion the Judges held that the voluntary relief department was an insurance business, and that under the statutes the company had no authority to conduct life, accident and benefit insurance.

If the Supreme Court sustains the finding it will affect 25,000 Pennsylvania employees in the state and at least $2,000,000 in the department fund. The Pennsylvania employees have been putting up a hard fight against the voluntary department. It went so far that Representative McNamee, of Franklin county, introduced a bill at the regular session to prevent the operation of such benefit and assurance funds as conducted by the Pennsylvania. The bill disappeared before the end of the session.

OF MISS JULIA BABBITT AND MR. SAMSEL

Took Place Thursday Evening at Bride's Home on Granville Street At 7 O'clock.

The wedding of Miss Julia Babbitt, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Babbitt, to Mr. J. C. Samsel, took place at the bride's home, 49 Granville street at 7 o'clock Thursday evening, Rev. G. W. Van Fossen of Trinity Episcopal church performing the ceremony in the presence of about 65 invited guests.

The mantels were banked with flowers and the scene was one of blossoming fragrance.

The bride wore white chiffon over white silk and was given away by her father to the worthy and manly groom.

AMUSEMENTS.

All next week the Keystone Dramatic company will appear at the Auditorium in some of the famous plays ever seen at popular prices. A carload of special scenery is carried to properly present the plays, and polite vaudeville features will be introduced during each performance. Miss Gertrude Shipman and Mr. Lawrence B. McGill, are at the head of the organization, and are supported by a company of exceptional merit. "Utah" will be the opening bill, and a better selection could not have been made, as it is one of the strongest in the large repertoire. Special vaudeville features will be seen at every performance.
